

Jack Dempsey Buys First Firestone Coupon Book To Aid Jobless

Jack Dempsey lingers on his come-back trail long enough to be the first purchaser of a Firestone coupon book to assist unemployed over the hump.

Work for approximately 199 unemployed men was being provided today by Firestone Service Stores, Inc., local distributor of Firestone products. The majority of the men employed are heads of families and recommended by local welfare organizations.

As outlined by Douglas Collins, manager of Firestone Service Stores, Inc., the men started today on a city-wide sales campaign with service books which entitle the purchasers to reduced prices at the Firestone service store. The service books can be purchased for 25c. The unemployed man who sells it retains the money for himself. The purchaser gets his 25c refunded on his first purchase at the Firestone store.

"Of course, the plan is primarily to increase our business, and we want the public to consider the men selling our coupon books as salesmen in our employ," said Collins. "But if we can thus put that many Torrance men to work we are glad of the opportunity to do so and we believe the plan will be a real cog in the machinery to restore prosperity by urging car owners to have services performed at a saving where otherwise the car would unquestionably be neglected under present conditions." Jack Dempsey, looking as fit as ever, bought the first coupon book.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL DOINGS

On April 11th and 12th the senior boys of the Torrance special school were taken on a trip to the county reforestation camp at Clear Creek in the Sierra Madre mountains. The boys were under the leadership of the agriculture teacher, Earl V. Francis. They left Monday morning and returned Tuesday evening. Transportation was furnished by the board of education. The following boys went on the trip: Gabriel Wada, Fred Igl, Joe Acero, Raphael Asencio, Wenceslao Flores, Tony Guzman, Eladio Jimenez, Benny Luna, Frank Luna, Tadao Kawashema, Gus Sarry, William Merritt, Stanley Darling, Mike Calliella, Nick Trujillo, Manuel Aceveda, Soledad Castro and Andrew Lopez. Upon their return, all the boys reported that they had enjoyed a good time.

The elementary school orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Lyle Louise Husted, is combining with five other elementary orchestras in the presentation of a program Tuesday evening, April 26, that is, Educational Week, in the Gardena high school.

In the observance of Education Week, the week beginning April 25, Torrance school has dedicated Wednesday, April 27, as exhibition day. The citizens of Torrance are especially invited to inspect the work of the school on that day, when, by special arrangement of school programs, more can be seen in less time than upon a casual visit to the school. At this time, too, the various departments of the Los Angeles school district will be explained. The Education Week program has an integrating function. It ties together in an effective way the efforts the whole community is making to achieve the seven cardinal objectives of education—sound health, worthy home membership, skill and interest in learning, citizenship and world goodwill, vocational effectiveness, worthy use of leisure, and ethical character.

Humane week is being observed this week throughout the country. In Torrance school mottoes have been placed on the blackboards, compositions have been written and interesting stories have been read in order to awaken and foster in the mind of the child, those principles of justice, fair play, and kindness toward every form of life, human and sub-human, capable of suffering, without which there can be no character worthy of citizenship.

Decorate Graves In France With Poppies Made Here

SAN FRANCISCO.—Graves of California soldiers in France will be decorated for the first time this year on Memorial Day with replicas of the Red Flanders Poppy made by disabled veterans in government hospitals in this state. It was announced today by Mrs. Bernice Keyes, president of the American Legion Auxiliary. Although the indigenous poppy grows in abundance over the last resting place of these valiant men the American Legion and the Auxiliary are placing on these sacred grounds this year a remembrance from home. Each disabled veteran who is making poppies for the annual "Poppy Day" sale of the American Legion Auxiliary to be held May 27 and 28, will make one extra poppy over the number they fashion for the Auxiliary, for which they are paid three cents each, to be placed on the graves. Members of the Legion and Auxiliary in Paris on Memorial Day will distribute the artificial flowers to the American cemeteries.

Hundreds of cars passed through Torrance on Tuesday enroute to the harbor and the Palos Verdes hills to watch the passage of the fleet and its attendant airplane escort. All possible vantage places from which to view the impressive spectacle in which 125 war vessels and 300 planes took part, were filled early in the day. Many children were excused from school attendance at the request of their parents to see the parade.

Homemakers' Bureau

It has taken four hundred years of cultivation on American soil to give us grapefruit as we now know them. Early in the 16th century the Spaniards brought the first trees to this continent, and ever since that time grapefruit has been cultivated and improved until it is now so different from its old-world ancestors it scarcely seems the same kind of citrus fruit.

The name comes from grape-like clusters in which the fruit grows, each fruit being from four to six inches in diameter. In selecting grapefruit, experts advise us to choose the heavier, darker skinned ones if we would be sure of plenty of juice and the very best flavor. From its place as "breakfast favorite" the grapefruit's popularity has grown until it is now used in every course of every meal in the day. Fruit or juice cocktails, salads, salad dressings, marmalades, desserts, beverages, and candies are all favorites in most American homes. These grapefruit cocktails are old friends in new clothes. Grapefruit Cocktail Prepare halves of grapefruit as for breakfast, notching edges for decorative effect. Pour over this: French Dressing 3 buds garlic 1 cup salad oil 1/2 cup vinegar Sugar to taste 1/2 cup tomato sauce 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper 1/2 teaspoon paprika 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce 1 teaspoon dry mustard Dissolve mustard first, then put all in bottle and shake; let stand a few hours. Minted Grapefruit Cocktail Halve and carefully cut grapefruit, notching edges. Over the top sprinkle crushed after dinner mints in place of the usual powdered sugar or other dressing. Top with green minted cherries or other suitable garnish. The Homemakers' Bureau most cordially invites you to write for any information you desire, be it a recipe, a budget, a party planned. Simply enclose a large, self-addressed envelope with your request to Julia Lee Wright, Safeway Homemakers' Bureau, care of Safeway Stores, Inc., Box 774, Oakland, California.

Sun Bathers Ask Law Against Peepers

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—(U.P.)—A state law against "Peeping Toms" in airplanes may be sought at the next legislature unless they quit peering the nude sun-bathers of this city.

Heretofore the seekers of a complete suntan have basked in safety behind canvas side walls. But these offer no protection to the sight-seers who fly over town with binoculars. The law, it is understood, would set a definite low altitude over all towns in the state, and especially over beach resorts.
